VIOLET PROTEST

The Violet Protest is a public effort to send 50 hand-made textile squares to each and every member of Congress in support of these core American values:

Civility and Respect
Citizenship
Compromise
Country over party & corporate influence
Courage
Candor
Compassion
Creativity

Whether we knit, crochet, sew, screen print, quilt, or embroider all 26,750 of these squares — through this social action, and from every corner of America; we as makers of all political persuasions, believe we can employ our willing spirit and our talents to contribute to healing divisions that threaten our country. This collection of textile squares will be first displayed at Phoenix Art Museum, Spring 2021, before they are sent to the new 117th Congress.

Focused on the values we hold dear as Americans, rather than any political beliefs, the color violet symbolizes the literal combination of red and blue, long held as symbols of our nation's differing ideologies. Our common goal is to send a physical message of friendly protest through this colossal visual expression to demonstrate that if we as citizens are willing to come together, so then must our elected officials.
